Jane Pearman Joins Relational Technology Solutions from Avaya

Charleston, South Carolina, May 28, 2009 – Relational Technology Solutions (RTS), one of the largest independent technology leasing and technology solutions providers in North America, today announced the appointment of Jane Pearman as national account manager based in the Charleston area.

Prior to the opening of the Charleston office, RTS had been serving South Carolina from regional offices located in Columbia and Greenville for over a decade.

RTS's strong presence in the southeastern United States stems from having some of the most experienced sales and engineering professionals in the industry. According to RTS Vice President of Sales Wayne Ianuario, Pearman continues this tradition, "With over 18 years of technology sales experience, we are excited to have Jane Pearman join our team."

Pearman comes to RTS from Avaya where she was a dedicated account manager responsible for the business development, strategic planning, and management of the State and Local Government and Education verticals in South Carolina. She worked on major accounts including Darlington County School District, Charleston County School District, and the Medical University of South Carolina.

Prior to working at Avaya, Pearman was a sales executive at IKON focusing on computer hardware/software, voice, video, and data solutions. She is currently a Board member for the SC Association for Educational Technology, a member of the Alliance for Digital Equality, and a member of SC K-12 Advisory Council.

“By hiring exceptional people, we strive to always deliver exceptional service to our clients at all times”, continued Ianuario. “The addition of Jane will be a significant benefit to our organization, as it will better position us to help our customers in South Carolina meet their business and technology needs.”
